IWM London

Located in Central London close to the City, Westminster and Southbank, IWM London's famous façade is a stunning Grade II listed building that was formerly home to the Royal Bethlem Hospital—now remembered as 'Bedlam'.

IWM London has been transformed. Designed by Foster + Partners, a spectacular new Atrium forms the heart of the museum and a breath-taking hanging gallery in the rooftop provides dramatic views of the floors beneath. Along with our remodelled daytime rooms, IWM London provides the perfect showcase for events big and small, traditional and low-key or high profile and inspirational.

IWM London is the flagship venue for Imperial War Museums (IWM), founded in 1917. It is the perfect venue for event organisers of strong brands, exciting innovators and forward-thinking organisations. From breakfasts, receptions, seated dinners and lunches to presentations and private celebrations, IWM London delivers successful events that achieve your aims and leave your guests talking about their experience.

By holding your event at IWM London, you are helping IWM continue to record and tell the stories of people's experiences of conflict and to educate more people around the world about the impact of war on people's lives.

Peyton Events

To mark a new chapter in its history, IWM London has created a partnership with Peyton Events who currently provide catering to some of the capital's most iconic venues and have over 20 years' experience in creating bespoke corporate and private events.

With "The Great British Menu" judge and renowned restaurateur Oliver Peyton as the Creative Director, Peyton Events brings a superior level of creativity, innovative food and event design, complemented by impeccable service.

Your dedicated event manager will liaise with our highly qualified and experienced team of the UK's best chefs, sommeliers and mixologists to ensure you have a captivating event, a wonderful wedding reception or a seamless conference.

We believe the cornerstone of good food is the quality of the ingredients and our chefs appreciate the importance of fresh, carefully sourced produce from British farmers and small independent producers from around the UK. Our enthusiasm for great tastes and combinations means your menus will always be fresh and innovative.

We are confident that our catering and level of service from our experienced team will surpass all expectations and will provide the perfect complement to an event at IWM London, one of the country's most inspiring venues.

Atrium

Capacities

Reception	340
Dinner	270
Dinner Dance	250
Theatre	200

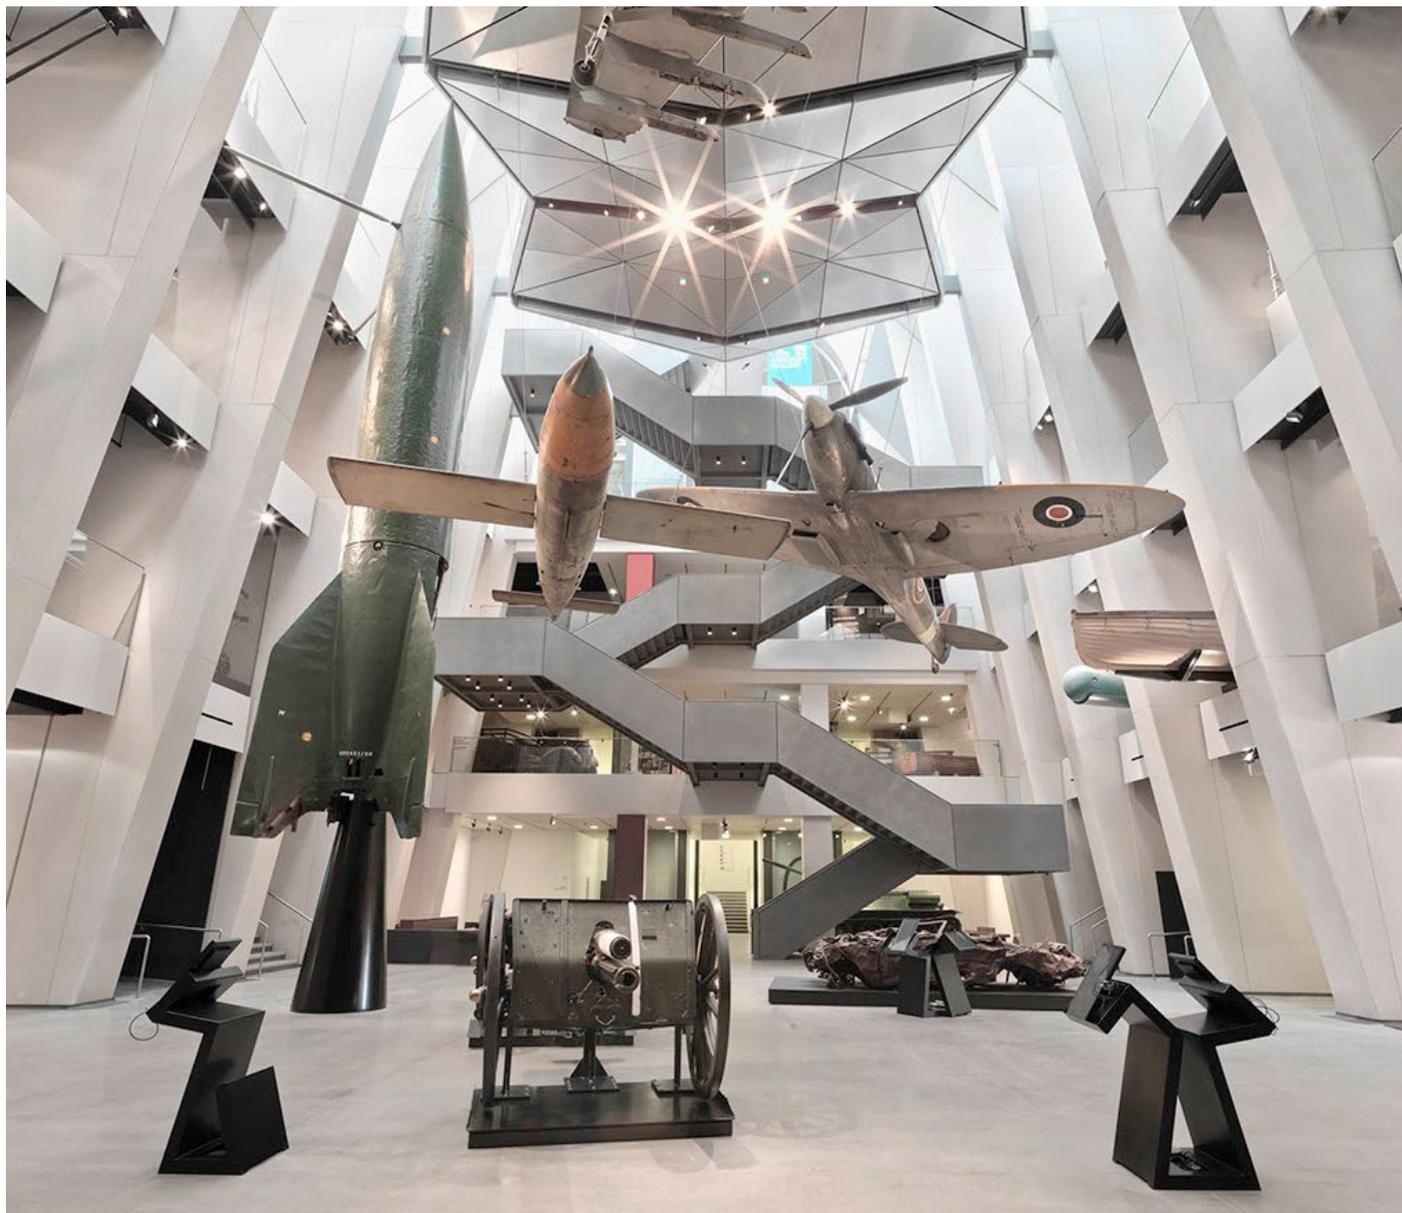

Unique Feature

Entertain your guests amongst some of IWM London's most important exhibits, including a number of dramatically suspended iconic aircraft.

The stunning 25m-high space benefits from great flexibility. The large exhibits on display include a rare Battle of Britain Spitfire; a Harrier jet used in Afghanistan and a German V2 rocket. These exhibits create an impactful and thought-provoking entrance for guests and provide talking points throughout an event.

Make use of the entire museum and hold pre-dinner drinks downstairs in the Atrium or make your way up to the balconies on level 1 or 2 or the Roof Terrace which brings you nearer to our larger exhibits.

IWM London's ever changing temporary exhibitions and prestigious permanent displays can add fascinating elements to events, especially when combined with private tours of the galleries.
